

POLICEMAN TRIED FOR PERJURY AS BLOW TO SYSTEM

"Buck" Terhune Accused of "Railroading" to Fatten His Record.

Leander E. better known as "Buck" Terhune, a handsome six-footer, with a record of nineteen years of clean service on the police force, faced Judge Trosky today in the Court of General Sessions, to answer the charge of perjury.

Until his indictment Terhune was attached to the West One Hundred and Fifty-second street station. On April 30, 1906, Terhune was seen by a burglar in Blackford's candy store at No. 215 West One Hundred and Forty-fifth street. He reported for help and got several other policemen, but the burglar escaped. A day or two later Terhune arrested Charles Smith, a graduate of the Elmira Reformatory, on the charge of being the man who entered the candy store. In the Harlem Court, where Smith was held again before the Grand Jury, where Smith was indicted, and finally before General Sessions, where Smith was put on trial, Terhune swore that through the front windows he saw Smith hiding behind a counter at the rear of the confectionery shortly after Terhune gave the first alarm.

Smith managed to get the ear of the District Attorney, and he told a story that caused Mr. Jerome to order a special investigation. Smith established a good alibi. On the heels of this other policeman said Terhune had not been near the store at the time of the discovery of the burglar. Smith claimed Terhune had a personal grudge against him and had threatened to put him back in prison. The other policemen thought Terhune had merely tried to ruin his record. A record of Terhune's arrest for perjury was made. Since his arraignment Terhune has been out on $5,000 bail and has been suspended. Lawyer Abe Levy represented him in court. Mr. Jerome, who has said that he believed the conviction of Terhune would go far toward breaking up some of the methods of the system, sent Assistant District Attorney Hart to prosecute.

TRIED TO KIDNAP HEIR TO $12,000

Relatives Who Ill-Treated Russian Boy Want Him Since He Has Money.

In the Orphan's Court at Paterson, N. J., yesterday the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children alleged that Isaac Pier, of No. 145 Oliver street, had on Wednesday attempted to kidnap his young nephew, Solomon Pier, who is heir to property in Russia, said to be worth $12,000. The boy was brought to America by his grandfather, Peter Pier, who, it was alleged, ill-treated him, so that the society had the old man arrested recently, and young Solomon was given to Mr. and Mrs. James J. Jacolin, of No. 98 Broadway, for adoption. Judge Scott, of the Orphan's Court, heard both sides yesterday. Agents of the Children's Society told how Solomon had been ill-treated and how willing his relatives were to be rid of him until word came of the $12,000 inheritance. They explained that the boy was well cared for and sent to school by the Jacolins. Little Solomon was in court and said he wanted to stay with the Jacolins. The Judge confirmed the adoption.

EXTRA SPECIAL—300 black thibet suits cut on the new long ultra model are offered on special sale at $15.

The New Suits at $20

Without going beyond the stated price—$20—this showing of suits is big enough to include every type of garment sanctioned by good style. There are conservative models with moderately long lapels and closing with three buttons. There are radical types, with deep rolling lapels and four closely grouped buttons. The latter we term the College model. The fabrics are superb, the patterns and colorings meet with the demands of every taste. To estimate the value of these $20 suits compare them with the $30 garments of custom tailors. A rare value at $20.

The New Suits at $25

In these suits are exemplified the very highest order of tailoring and fine fabrics. They possess the same amount of style, individuality and fine tailor work as the garments of the highest priced tailors. The fabrics are the finest procurable—magnificent hard-finished worsteds and soft-unfinished worsteds in exclusive patterns of browns, grays and blues. Special at $25.

Fall Overcoats at $15

To say they are worth $20 is placing a very conservative estimate on them. The whole town doesn't afford another value like them. Overcoats of this character prove the House of Vogel Brothers headquarters. The new box models and semi-fitted models are shown in elegant velour cassimeres and thibets, in black and every shade of gray. A vast series to select from, specially priced at $15.

Fall Overcoats at $20

Never has the triumph of Vogel Brothers' overcoats been more complete than in this showing at $20. When you see the overcoats involved you will admit you have never seen them equalled at the price. The fact is they are $25 garments in every respect. Every approved model is shown—elegant silk-lined overcoats of black thibet in the full-box and semi-fitted models and the radical button-through styles in grays of every shade. A vast special at $20.

Special—$20 Cravenette Raincoats at $15.50

150 of these 52-inch long Cravenettes have just been received from our work rooms. They are splendidly tailored and made of Oxford gray hard-finished worsteds. You cannot duplicate these overcoats for $20. Special at $15.50.
